COMMENT OF THE DAY

MALTA TALKS

THE latest negotiations between the United Kingdom Government and Malta have ended, but the outcome is not known.

It is, however, hoped that both parties have reached an amicable agreement.

The main reason for the Maltese Premier's visit to Britain was to discuss the amount of the United Kingdom's contribution to the Malta budget which is currently running at over six million pounds a year.

Other matters for consideration were employment prospects in the island and the climate for industrialisation.

Undoubtedly, too, there must have been a full scale review of constitutional matters in the light of the Malta Assembly resolution of December last year, which still remains on record. This was the resolution threatening to sever Malta's ties with the United Kingdom.

Resolution

THE resolution claimed that Britain had broken faith with Malta on the implementation of the 1955 agreement on the future of the Malta dockyard.

The view of Her Majesty's Government was that the agreement was not a guarantee of alternative employment for workers losing their jobs at the dockyard as a result of defence cuts, but rather a declaration on the economic objectives by the Maltese Government and Opposition, as well as by Britain.

The resolution was passed less than two months after the London talks on the constitutional aspects of the proposed integration of Malta with the United Kingdom so it must be assumed that Mr. Mintoff's blustering at the time was nothing more than a political manoeuvre to force Britain's hand.

Assurance

THE Colonial Secretary, Mr. Lennox-Boyd, undoubtedly pressed for an assurance that the Maltese Government really desires to strengthen the island's link with the United Kingdom, and that they understand that the British Government cannot guarantee to find a complete solution to the problem of unemployment when the dockyard, the main source of employment, finally closes in three years' time.

The British Government is already providing substantial capital development in order to create conditions favouring the introduction of new industry. But it is for the Maltese Government and the people to work out a long-term development plan, and to make the best possible use of their own resources.

'Splendid Work' Done By Govt For Refugees

London, Mar. 20.

Mr Alan Lennox-Boyd, the Colonial Secretary, today paid tribute to the "splendid work" done by the Hongkong Government in resettling refugees.

Unionists Returned In Belfast

Belfast, Mar. 21.

Lord Brookeborough's Unionist Government was returned to power in Northern Ireland for another five years in election results announced early today.

The Unionists—who support Northern Ireland's connection with the United Kingdom—had won 28 of the first 32 seats declared in the 52-member House of Commons.

When voting took place in the general election yesterday, 25 Unionists and two Nationalists had already been returned unopposed.

MAJORITY

The first four results declared early today gave the Unionists three more seats and the necessary clear majority in the House of Commons.

Lord Brookeborough, the 68-year-old Prime Minister, led his party into the election campaign with victory virtually certain. The last election, in 1953, gave the Unionists 38 of the 52 seats in the Commons.

The party had to provide the speaker and deputy speaker from its ranks, but its overall majority was restored to 24 because two Republican members refused to take their seats.

Northern Ireland is constitutionally part of the United Kingdom, returning 12 members to the House of Commons as well as having its own two-chamber legislature.

Hammarskjold Off To Russia

New York, Mar. 21.

Mr Dag Hammarskjold, United Nations Secretary-General, leaves here by air today for his postponed "working visit" to Moscow.

He will stay in Stockholm for one day, and leave for the Russian capital on Sunday. It is expected that the deadlocked disarmament problem and the prospects for a summit conference later this year will figure prominently in his Moscow discussions with Soviet leaders.

From Moscow he will go to London for a three-day official visit which is scheduled for March 31.—Reuter.

Late Snows Blanket East Coast Of US

Boston, Mar. 20.

A storm riding on gale winds dumped up to 20 inches of snow from Virginia to New England today with Spring only hours away. The storm paralysed the operations of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Winter's dying blast felled scores of power and telephone lines in the northeast, leaving thousands of homes without lights, heat or telephone service. It crippled transportation, closed hundreds of schools and caused flooding along the coast.

Electric transmission line failures caused by the snow, brought Pennsylvania Railroad operations almost to a standstill out of giant Pennsylvania Station in New York City.

Meanwhile, the scallop dragger "Carol and Estelle" with 11 men aboard broke down about 140 miles east of Cape Cod and wallowed helplessly in heavy seas.

WIND GUST

Wind gusts of up to 70 miles an hour were predicted for that area. The Coast Guard cutter General Greene was dispatched to aid the dragger. The craft's sloop reduced that a broken manfold had knocked the engine out.

With Spring bowing in, the Weather Bureau rated the storm the worst this late in the year since the Palm Sunday blizzard on March 29, 1942.

At least 10 persons died in accidents attributed to the storm.—United Press.

THE NEXT PRESIDENT OF TAIWAN

Washington, Mar. 20.

United States officials believe that Chen Cheng, Vice-President of the Nationalist Chinese, would make a worthy successor to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek if anything happened to the Generalissimo, a senior state department official said in congressional testimony released today.

It was Mr. Walter Robertson, Assistant-Secretary for the Far East, addressing a private meeting of the House of Representatives Foreign Affairs Committee recently, Mr. Robertson added that US officials had done a great deal of thinking about what would happen to the Nationalists after Chiang.

NO QUESTION

"If President Chiang would die tonight, in my opinion there is no question but that the present Vice-President, Chen Cheng, would become President," he said.

Mr. Robertson also said there was not a shred of evidence that Chiang's son, Chiang Ching-kuo, was connected with anti-American rioting which broke out on Formosa, the Nationalists' island stronghold, last May. He declared that the son had political enemies who had spread some very irresponsible rumours about him.—Reuter.

AIRLINER SKIDS OFF RUNWAY

New York, Mar. 20.

A Scandinavian Airlines four-engine DC-7 carrying 55 persons skidded off a runway to night while taking off in a snowstorm. No one was injured. Airport officials said the nose-wheel of the plane collapsed

The 43 passengers and ten crew members aboard the plane, which was bound for Copenhagen and other Scandinavian points, left through

CONCERN OVER RIFT BETWEEN TAIWAN & JAPAN

By RALPH HARRIS

Washington, Mar. 21.

There were expressions of concern in Washington today over the Chinese Nationalist announcement from Taipei breaking off commercial relations with Japan in protest against the recently concluded private trade agreement between Japan and Chinese Communist interests.

United States Government officials, conscious of the fact that this is a matter affecting two close Allies, declined all comment.

But there was no disguising the distress with which the reports were received here.

TO AVOID

The United States is anxious to avoid taking any public stand which would probably only annoy one side or the other.

Reports reaching here depict the Japanese Government as having been badly shaken by the Chinese Nationalist action.

Some Washington observers expressed the view that the vigorous action of Taipei to the conclusion of the trade pact might persuade Tokyo to try to delay approval of the agreement. The same observers said it might be that the strength of the Chinese Nationalist disapproval had not been thoroughly appreciated in Japan in the first place and that possible misunderstanding might now be removed.

As seen here, the Nationalists regard many of the terms of the private trade agreement, such as the provision for an exchange of trade missions, as implying some sort of recognition by Japan of the Chinese Communist regime.

DRASTIC ACTION

The Chinese Nationalists obviously hoped, by its drastic action, to force the Japanese Government to withhold approval from the agreement privately made with Peking.

A New York Times despatch from Tokyo said that disruption of Japan's trade with Taiwan cost one big Japanese company a pending $500,000 contract for electric generator parts.

"Private commercial setbacks of this sort, when they are a result of government policy, can have important political repercussions here, as they may affect the degree of support given the Government by big business interests," the dispatch commented.

Apart from direct trade between Japan and Formosa, Japan's commercial interests with other parts of Asia, where there are large Chinese communities, could be affected by a boycott in sympathy with the Nationalists.—Reuter.

MYSTERY MICROBE

Houston, Mar. 20.

A mystery microbe, resistant to all known antibiotics, has been responsible for the deaths of 25 American babies over the last two months. It was disclosed here today. Sixteen of the babies died in hospitals in Houston, the other nine in Dallas, also in Texas.

During the month of February alone, 81 babies and 21 mothers have been victims of this bacteriological infection, which is also said to be responsible for this winter's increase in the number of cases of pneumonia in America.—France-Press.

Lords Blast Practice Of Flying Flags Of Convenience

London, Mar. 20.

Three members of Britain's House of Lords today denounced the current merchant marine practice of flying "flags of convenience."

Lord Winstone, opening a debate on Britain's merchant marine in the Upper House of the nation's Parliament, said such flags were a "menacing problem and the most disturbing maritime problem in the post-war years."

50 PER CENT

He noted that "Liberia is now the fourth maritime country in the world and mammoth super-tankers are operating under her flag" as a result.

"About 50 per cent of these ships flying flags of convenience are American," he said. "The Americans set out to save operating costs and my word but they do it."

Lord Winstone warned that "British shipping cannot survive against this tax-free operations." Viscount Runciman joined Winstone, labelling flags of convenience "the most important single question that confronts certainly the British mercantile marine and probably the mercantile marine of all the nations of the world."

IN WAR-TIME

Viscount Simon said that ships flying flags of convenience would be difficult to requisition for the free world in time of war. "I think this is a very serious consideration, particularly in the matter of tankers when we consider that in such conditions the supply of oil would be one of our most vital needs."

Lord Winstone also noted that rising costs kept British shipbuilders from getting as many ships down the way as previously. He noted that Japan led the world in new construction and had tripled her output in the past few years.—United Press.

CHINATOWN LEADER IN NY ORDERED TO PRISON

New York, Mar. 20.

Sing Kee, World War One hero and civic leader of New York's Chinatown, was ordered today to surrender at once to begin a two and one-half year prison term for helping Chinese to enter the United States illegally.

Kee's lawyer, Allen Sum, appeared before Federal Judge Richard H. Levett to request that his client be given until Monday to surrender. He explained that he needed the time to get his affairs in shape, to sell property and to make a will.

Been Hanging

However, Judge Levett said that Kee had already had enough time to take care of those things.

"This case has been hanging for more than a year," Levett said. "I don't see why your client was caught off guard." Kee, a 63-year-old restaurant owner who was awarded the United States Distinguished Service Cross for bravery, was convicted on February 1957, and was given the prison sentence in addition to a $6,000 fine.

Under Appeal

The case has been under appeal since then. The Court of Appeals upheld the trial court and the US Supreme Court recently refused to review the case. Kee was ordered yesterday to surrender today.

He was convicted of assisting in the preparation of immigration papers in which Chinese nationals fraudulently claimed parents of US citizenship, thus enabling them to enter the United States. Kee was charged with obtaining $24,000 in two years by charging the Chinese from $200 to $400 each.

He has been under $10,000 bail since his conviction.—United Press.

Foreign Asians Will Not Evacuate Sumatra Yet

Djakarta, Mar. 20.

SEVERAL Asian diplomats indicated today they had no plans to evacuate their nationals from the troubled Sumatran areas.

Indian, Pakistan and Ceylonese sources said the situation was being watched, but so far there was nothing to show the position of their nationals was insecure.

India is estimated to have about 20,000 nationals living in Indonesia.

Eight thousand are believed to be living in Medan, the North Sumatran capital, where loyalist Government troops claimed victory over insurgent forces.

A small number of Indians are also living in Menado, the capital of the rebel-held North Celebes which is supporting Central Sumatra's defiant "Revolutionary Government of Indonesia."

Indian diplomatic sources said in Djakarta "many of our nationals are domiciled in Indonesia for a long time and are well established in the community and their position probably is different from other foreigners."

The sources said the Indian Embassy would help if any request was received from its nationals, but this was not expected and there was no formal evacuation plan.

The Pakistan Embassy spokesman said if the situation should worsen the Embassy would make necessary arrangements to evacuate its nationals if they wished.

He said there were difficulties in contacting Pakistani nationals in some so far-flung regions but there was no request from them to leave the country.

Pakistanis numbering several thousand throughout Indonesia are chiefly centred in Medan with a few in Central Sumatra.

It was understood the Ceylonese authorities here were keeping in touch with the Indonesian Government about the position of Ceylonese nationals. Ceylonese in Indonesia number about 260, but most of these live in Java.—Reuter.

TERRORISM IN HAVANA IS INCREASED

I SACRIFICED LOVE FOR COUNTRY, SAYS SHAH

Teheran, Mar. 21.
THE Shah of Iran told his people in a deeply touching nationwide radio broadcast today that he sacrificed his love for his country.

The 38-year-old Monarch left no doubt that he still loved divorced Queen Soraya. He reported to the nation "The future of this country and the hereditary monarchy forced a parting with my dear spouse."

The Shah, in a Persian New Year Day State of the Nation broadcast, spoke in a subdued, melancholy voice. He sighed during the passage on Soraya and observers said tears shone in his eyes.

"I am sorry not to be able to personally participate in the rejoicing of my nation on this festive occasion," the Shah said. "In order to insure the future of the country and to safeguard the hereditary monarchy I was constrained to part with my dear spouse who, during difficult times in the past seven years, ever shared my sorrows and was always my faithful companion."

"For the first day of my reign I pledged myself and it has been my practice to forget myself in the interests of the state. And this latter decision of mine, one of the most difficult I have ever made, was specifically in the interests of my country," he added.—United Press.

SAN MARINO'S FINANCIAL PLIGHT: PLEA FOR AID FROM U.S. ITALY

San Marino, Mar. 20.
The new anti-Communist leadership of this postage stamp republic looked to the United States and Italy today for aid in saving their five-month-old regime from bankruptcy.

Foreign Secretary Federico Bigli told Italian newsmen yesterday that what this country needs is a "little Marshall Plan" to meet the deficit expected as a result of promised military and increased social security benefits.

The deficit, piled on top of the existing Marinian public debt of $1,015,337.71, presents a financial burden too great to be met by San Marino's traditional resources—tourist spending and the sale of stamps. San Marino's financial plight is mainly the result of Communist efforts during the past 13 years to transform this 24-square-mile country into a "model" Red republic.

The new Administration hopes to prove the superiority of democracy by cleaning up the mess.

Bigli told the Ansa news agency that, while most European countries benefitted from the Marshall Plan during the late 40s and early 50s, San Marino missed the boat.

"San Marino is still suffering from war damages for which no one has paid," he said.

This was a reference to the Allied air raid which killed 224 persons and caused extensive damage at the time when San Marino was part of Germany's Gothic Defence Line. This country is trying to collect $7,000,000 in reparations from England.—United Press.

A Demand For Next Labour Govt To Halt Nuclear Arms

London, Mar. 20.
The leftwing Labour group calling itself "Victory for Socialism" tonight demanded that the next Labour government should stop manufacturing hydrogen weapons and forbid their use from British territory.

In a statement of aims, the group, which includes nine Labour members of Parliament, said the next Labour government should also call a "summit" conference to negotiate on Labour's peace proposals. It should be prepared to negotiate with Russia even if America rejected Britain's ideas as a basis for negotiations.

The group, which was formed last year, was recently summoned before the official Labour Party chiefs to give assurances it was not attempting to create a party within a party.

The group leaders apparently gave fairly specific assurances, and no disciplinary action was initiated against them. But the group's views on the bomb remain in conflict with the official Labour line—which is against Britain alone ending H-bomb manufacture, and on bases says only those should not be set up ahead of "summit".—Chimes Staff Special.

Blackout At Opening Of New Hilton Hotel

Havana, Mar. 20.
Rebels increased the pace of their terrorism campaign in the Havana area today to coincide with the opening of the swank Havana Hilton Hotel.

Large portions of the city were blacked out last night at about the time of the arrival of some 300 notables, including stage and screen personalities, guests of the hotel magnate, Conrad Hilton.

The hotel itself was not affected, however, by the blackout as it has its own power plant. The blackout traced to two bomb explosions in the regular power plant—affected suburban Vedado, Miramar and Marianao, as well as the nearby cities of Regla and Guanabacoa.

Emergency repairs restored power in most localities in a matter of minutes but it was estimated that permanent repairs would take at least a day.

ARSON

In another terrorist act in greater Havana unidentified persons burned out a three-story warehouse owned by Importaciones Zayden, a discount house allegedly owned by a high-ranking Army officer.

Delayed reports from Santiago de Cuba said five unidentified youths, armed with pistols, raided a printing shop of the nominally independent Prensa Universal and destroyed a rotary press with hand grenades. The youths escaped in a car.

Reports from Camaguey said a young Army pilot, 1st Lt. Julio Dantone, died when his parachute failed to open after he bailed out of a jet trainer plane over the nearby city of Moron.

The plane, whose engine failed for unknown reasons, crashed in a nearby field and burned completely. Dantone's body hit the roof of a private residence.—United Press.

GIFT OF A HOLY SYMBOL OF ISLAM

Amman, Mar. 20.
The Jordanian government today announced the receipt from the Saudi Arabian government of a stone which formed part of the roof of the vault over the Kaabah—the Black Stone of Mecca.

It is one of the holiest symbols of the Islamic world.

The gift of stone, which will be exhibited in museums in Jerusalem and Amman, is the first instance of such an action in more than 400 years.

The yellow and white stone is 7.2 inches long, 3.6 inches wide and 1.6 inches thick.—United Press.

GENGHIS KHAN'S BIRTHPLACE FOUND, SAYS MOSCOW

London, Mar. 20.
SOVIET scientists have found the birthplace of Genghis Khan, the famous Mongolian warrior, Moscow Radio reported today. In a broadcast heard here, the Radio said scientists have found ancient documents proving that the famous war leader was born at Deluyn Bldok in Trans-Valkala.
An expedition led by Sergei Kiselev, an associate member of the USSR Academy of Sciences found the site of the village on the Mongolian-Soviet frontier.
It is now just a bare patch of earth, but numerous relics of Genghis Khan are found in the area, the broadcast said.—United Press.

"Hostile Military Concentrations"

Glaring Threat, Warns Nasser

Foreign Armies Massed On Syrian Border

Cairo, Mar. 20.
Camel Abdel Nasser, President of the United Arab Republic warned tonight that "hostile military concentrations" were massed along the borders of the Syrian province.

Nasser, addressing a crowd of more than 500 persons in Cairo's Republic Square, said, "It is clear there is a glaring threat against the United Arab Republic."

"Behind the borders, there are several attempts, to divide us internally, and separate the army from the people," he said.

The President addressing a mass rally for the first time since his return from a three-week visit to Syria, said, "While in Syria I was able to see the movements of foreign armies along the Syrian borders."

He then sharply attacked the leaders of Iraq and Jordan, who he said had rejected his efforts to establish "peaceful co-existence" between the U.A.R. and the Iraqi-Jordanian Federation.

Nasser charged that the Hashemite rulers, dynasty sovereigns of Iraq and Jordan, were hostile to the U.A.R. because of their fear that the Arab people will derive them of their privileges as reactionaries and imperialist agents.

"The very principles of our republic, socialist and cooperative frightens them," Nasser said, to the applause of the crowds.

Nasser stressed the need for the unity of the Arab countries. Speaking before a map showing the entire Arab world from the Euphrates to the Atlantic Ocean, Nasser said unity was the only way to "face up to the imperialists and Zionist expansionism victoriously."

The Arab nations had lost the Palestine war only because they were divided, he said.

Nasser lashed out against the Baghdad Middle East defence pact, which he said had been devised as a way of "infiltrating" British influence into the Arab world.

He pledged that the U.A.R. would never join any pact that would give foreign influence free access into the Arab Republic.
He said that Arab nationalism had become a popular force independent of leaders, including himself.—France-Press.

THE 'CYST' WAS TWIN BROTHER

Genoa, Mar. 20.
Doctors operating on a 40-year-old man, believed to be suffering from a cyst, today removed a 15 pound embryo twin. The "twin" was a male, with irregularly developed limbs, and long white hair. It was attached to the brother by an artery which kept it alive.

The man, whose name was kept secret, was in good health after the operation, which took place at the Duchess Di Gailliera's Hospital here.—France-Press.

New Oil Line

Tehran, Mar. 20.
The Shah of Persia tonight opened a new 500-mile pipeline for refined oil products between here and the Abadan refinery. The pipeline, across mountains and salt desert, will result in big savings in transport costs by carrying oil products for domestic consumption in Tehran and North Persia.—Reuter.

QUADS TAKE THE AIR

THERE was quite a crowd gathered recently around a house in London's Stepney district—for the 10-week Bennett quadruplets were taking the air. And most of the neighbours were seeing the quads for the first time. The quads behaved impeccably—displayed neither tears nor scowls while the neighbours rather round.—Express.

Case Of The Kissing Civil Servant

London, Mar. 20.
The Colonial Secretary, Alan Lennox-Boyd, indicated today that the Government contemplated no action at present in the case of an English civil servant who was dismissed on the charge that he kissed a Chinese worker.

Mr Lennox-Boyd was asked for a statement on the case in the House of Commons today. He dealt only with local Singapore proceedings in his written reply, which said:

"I am told on February 13 the Staff Committee of the Singapore City Council held Mr Skell to be guilty of contravening the rules of conduct and discipline laid down for City Council employees, and recommended his dismissal from the service."

"On February 28 the City Council confirmed the recommendation of the Staff Committee. I understand that an appeal to the City Council against this decision has been lodged on behalf of Mr Skell by the City Council Senior Officers Association."—United Press.

Germany To Make Weapons?

Bonn, Mar. 20.
A West German Government spokesman today officially confirmed that Germany has asked NATO for permission to build some short range anti-tank weapons. It was revealed earlier today that Lauris Norstad, NATO Supreme Commander, had recommended that changes be made in the 1954 Brussels treaty to allow West Germany to manufacture anti-tank missiles.—France-Press.

Strike In Hollywood

MUSICIANS DELAY SHOOTING IN FIVE STUDIOS

Hollywood, Mar. 20.
PRODUCTION of musical motion pictures came to a halt today because of a musicians strike against five major studios which also threatened dramatic movies.
Lon Chatterman, board director of Musicians Local 47, said four films at 20th Century-Fox, one at Paramount and another at MGM had been delayed until the strike was settled.
"So far we're delayed at least six pictures," Mr Chatterman said. "We plan to continue the strike until the studios meet our terms."
Mr Chatterman said he hoped that would be through around the strike, but would the musicians boycott Wednesday night's Academy Award show.

Studios have reacted by sending completed films abroad and to Mexico for export. England's Federation of Musicians, refusing to provide musical backgrounds for Hollywood pictures.
The stars affected by the strike are Danny Kaye, scheduled to make "The Five Little Pansies" and Debbie Reynolds in "The Day After Tomorrow."
The strike involves some 2,500 musicians of the 14,000 possible total union.—United Press.

Who'll Hit The Moon First?

The Space Race: US General Is Optimistic

Cape Canaveral, Mar. 20.
Maj-General Donald Yates, chief of the Air Force missile test base here, said today he expected the United States to beat Russia in the rocket-to-the-moon race.

General Yates, whose test centre launched the two US satellites, said "I would not be surprised" if the United States hits the moon with a rocket before Russia.

"I'm American and reasonably optimistic," General Yates told 80 newsmen during the first major press tour of this $400,000,000 base where US ballistic missiles and pilotless aircraft are tested.
The tour had these other highlights:
● The Army displayed a new Jupiter-C rocket mounted in its test stand here, preparing for early launching of Explorer III earth satellite. If successful, it will do America's third satellite, taking its place with the Navy Vanguard, the Army Explorer I and Russia's Sputnik.
● The Air Force showed a new Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile being groomed for an early test flight. It will be a short-range flight to test missile parts and will be the seventh Atlas launched.

SPUTNIK III

Meanwhile, a report from Warsaw, said the Soviet Sputnik III will be sent around the moon and will then return to continue around an earth orbit.
The Polish P.A.P. news agency said tonight that the third Soviet satellite would weigh between five and six tons. The launching rocket would be much bigger and more powerful than the rockets which shot up Sputnik I and Sputnik II, the agency said.

It said "Sputnik III will be launched at a speed that will permit it to go around the earth, from which it will transmit the information recorded automatically during its cosmic voyage."

The agency said the next Soviet satellite would be equipped with much more modern and more complex instruments, which would record numerous phenomena of interplanetary space.

It said that newsmen in Moscow believed the new Sputnik would provide the greatest revelations obtained thus far in the field of space travel.

In Albuquerque, New Mexico, the moonwatch team at Kirkland Air Force Base reported it had spotted all three of men's

We Prefer Kimonos To The Sack

Washington, Mar. 20.
Senator Richard B. Russell asked the Agriculture Department today if it was tempting Japanese girls with "new sack arrangements" in its clothing display at agricultural fairs.

The bachelor Democrat put the question to Gwynn Garnett, chief of the Foreign Agricultural Service, at an appropriations subcommittee hearing.

Garnett assured Russell that the cotton clothing shown at the fairs in Japan to attract Japanese cotton buyers were "high class" items in Japanese style.

He said that the Japanese girls "have taken care of that (the new sack fashion). They don't like it."

"Then you show kimonos rather than the new French fashions?"
"That's right," answered Garnett.—United Press.

LIZ RENAY:
"I've always wanted the headlines."

DON IDDON'S DIARY

New York...

Gangster's girl (A MONROE LOOK) steps into the limelight

FOR the past few days a stunning beauty called Liz Renay has been stopping the pulses of a New York Grand Jury and making the public goggle-eyed.

She is in the gaudy tradition of the gangster's girl friend, but more beautiful than Hope Dare, who was mixed up with a shady gangster's lawyer, and harder-boiled than Virginia Hill, the girl-friend of gangster "Bugsy" Siegel, the girl who scoffed at the Senate investigating committee and said: "I don't know nothing about no one."

Miss Renay, statuesque, with a 36-24-36 figure, speaks with more culture, but she is just as tough as Miss Hill, and may be shrewder. She popped out of obscurity just a week ago to become one of the best-known faces in America, more photographed at the moment than Marilyn Monroe, the Gabor sisters, or Ava Gardner.

Every day there have been crowds outside the Grand Jury room, although the sessions are held in secret. Every day Miss Renay has blocked traffic posing for photographers, crossing and uncrossing her legs and swishing her figure. What is Liz doing before the Grand Jury? She is being questioned as a possible important witness in the unsolved murder of Albert Anastasia, who was pumped full of bullets as he lolled in a mid-town barber's chair.

Frank

MISS RENAY admits frankly that she numbers among her friends Anthony Coppola, the body-guard who failed to guard Anastasia, and Mickey Cohen, the West Coast gangster who has been the target for six assassination attempts in the past six years.

Says Liz: "I've always wanted the headlines, the spotlight, but as an actress or famous model, not like this. Still, I am on all the front pages and I want you to know that my friends are very sweet persons. Mickey is a very dear friend, and Cappy (Coppola) is a very sweet person indeed who once proposed marriage to me."

I have been down to the Grand Jury room twice this week, and veteran court reporters, using the old phrase "This is where we came in," swear that the stage, the setting, the cast are almost identical with those of the late 1920's and early '30's. "Nothing has changed but the names."

Perhaps there is some special psychological link between the big depression of 26 years ago and the little depression of today.

The gangster's girl this time, however, seems more commanding. Miss Renay says: "Sure I lent Mickey 10,000 dollars ($3,500). What's 10,000 dollars? I lent him the dough because he was short of cash—squeezed."

And where did Liz get the money? "Oh, from friends

"I have some very nice friends, real sweet persons." Whether the investigators will be able to link Liz and her friends with the Anastasia killing is doubtful, but the case is titillating the public more than anything since the Hollywood v. Confidential magazine trial.

Miss Renay, about 32, has been around, and a local newspaper, the New York World Telegram, has gleefully announced that it was Liz who won their competition. "Which girl most resembles Marilyn Monroe?" four years ago.

Then Elizabeth was blonde, now she is a redhead. Tomorrow she may be a brunette.

Compared with Virginia Hill, the most fabulous of all the gang dolls, Liz has class. Virginia is out of the news now, with an ice-cold million dollars or two stacked away.

It was in her palatial Beverly Hills home that the mobster "Bugsy" Siegel was mown down in one of the most sensational killings in Hollywood. Virginia was known as the cash-and-carry girl of the syndicate.

VIRGINIA HILL, the girl-friend of gangster "Bugsy" Siegel.

The new man from the U.S.S.R. looks like a prosperous American business man, and dresses like a prosperous Englishman. He speaks perfect English and is a youthful 55. When you go to see him he has no interpreter, no secretary, no recording machine. You are on your own.

Puzzling

BOTH President Eisenhower and Mr. John Foster Dulles have been saying a great deal about a possible Summit meeting, but saying it in such a way that the public very worriedly now about the recession, cannot grasp what is going on, if anything.

More and more the pronouncements of Mr. Eisenhower resemble the pronouncements of Mr. Ramsay MacDonald in his declining years.

"It seems to me—well, of course, on the other hand, unless you face the fact that it is up to us all to pull together, and as I see it, we are on our way, and there is nothing vitally wrong if we all keep our heads and our confidence and do the very best we can, bearing in mind the various factors. At least, that's how I see this thing. But I don't want any more of that now."

Does that answer your question—you from the New York Times and the Baltimore Sun, the Miami Herald and the Philadelphia Bulletin? Right. Next question, please.

Social lion

ANOTHER, vastly different, personality has been sharing the big type with Miss Renay. Almost overnight the new Russian Ambassador to Washington, Mikhail Menshikov, has become one of the most popular men in the capital, and one of the most written-about personalities in the country. He has had more publicity, most of it favourable, than all the other envoys, including our own excellent representative, Sir Harold Caccia, put together.

He is the social lion of the season, roaring for Russia, winning friends and influencing people with flair and relish.

I suspect that he is Krushchev's personal choice. For years the Russians have sent a procession of stone-faced men here—Gromyko, Zarubin, Novikov, and Ganyushkin. Only the explosive Vishinsky had magnetism, but his hands were bloody and his manner malevolent.

And where did Liz get the money? "Oh, from friends

I NEVER believed that every private carried a field-marshal's baton in his knapsack, but I am coming round to the theory that once in television, one might quite easily reach 10, Downing Street.

The conception of the amateur in politics has always had a strong appeal for me, especially when the amateur in question is myself.

I should very much like to be Prime Minister of England some day (indeed for several days); and most mornings as I lie in my bath I find myself wondering how, if I were to be called on to take over from Mr. Macmillan, I would deal with the great questions of the hour.

In point of fact, there are few problems that I cannot solve as long as I stay under water.

Moreover I am able, when comfortably submerged up to my chin, to step right out of the bath—and, indeed, my skin—and project myself anywhere in the world.

One moment I am sluicing myself with the sponge,

AND IF I BECOME PREMIER I KNOW JUST WHAT I SHALL SAY TO MR. KRUSHCHEV...

the next facing Krushchev across a table in the Kremlin.

"Now look here," I tell him. "My name, by the way, is Morley, but that's not important...."

"I represent the common-sense point of view, the British point of view. What we feel you should do now, old man, is to relax. Teach your people the Everything-Stops-For-Tea routine. You don't have to catch up with the Americans...why not slow down a bit and wait for us or even the French?"

ROBERT MORLEY wonders whether to join Jacqueline Mackenzie and Ludovic Kennedy in the ranks of the new-style politicians

Why shouldn't I jump on the bandwagon?

I must say Krushchev usually agrees with me. I find him on the whole a perfectly reasonable sort of bloke.

When we've finished our little chat I call in on Eisenhower on the way back. The President is waiting for me in the club house.

"My name is Morley," I begin, but he interrupts.

"Good heavens, you don't have to tell me...saw you in Around the World...best thing in it. Tell me, do you prefer acting for the screen or the stage? I have to bring him back to business...." "Tell me," I ask him, "do you mean to do a deal with Krushchev? Because if so I've come to wrap it up for you."

I can't, of course, reveal at this stage the details of the ingenious scheme I have worked out. It is still top secret and likely to remain so for some time.

But the formula is my own...the common-sense approach, allied of course to the personal touch. It never fails—at least, not in my bath tub.

When I am Prime Minister I realise I shan't be able to stay in my bath all the time. Indeed I am sure I shan't need to. For, although only an amateur, I have been a practising politician now for over five years. Practising perhaps is not quite the word. I have been ready to practise, but there hasn't been anybody to practise on.

No good thing

WHEN in 1953 I got a letter from the local branch of the Labour Party asking me to become their president I thought about it for a very long time before I accepted.

I am, it is true, a Labour man in so far as I support any political party, but an actor is wise never to declare his allegiance.

It isn't a good thing for him to believe too strongly in anything—not even the National Theatre.

More members of my profession have destroyed themselves on the soap box than on the bottle. A drunken actor sometimes manages to give a good performance but an actor who is politically awakened invariably sends his audience to sleep.

It's the same with playwrights. One who starts writing for the political weeklies their stalls trade practically disappears.

However, I can never resist being a president so, although aware of the danger, I finally wrote back and accepted. Since when I've never heard another word.

I sometimes wonder if I imagined the whole thing. Whether perhaps the invitation was intended for someone else or whether they never received my letter of acceptance.

Perhaps someone was playing a trick on me. Whatever the reason, no one can pretend I have had a busy term of office. You would have thought that once in five years I might have been called on to present the prizes for the spot waltz, or even to bring a small party along to a whist drive.

I refuse

ON the other hand I am always being asked to open Conservative fetes and loyally refuse to do so. Of course there are a good many more Conservatives than Labour supporters in my neck of the woods.

I don't suppose we've ever had a Labour member of Parliament in this constituency, which is what is known as a safe seat for the Tories.

Personally, I think it would even up things a bit if in these so-called safe divisions they gave the other side a look in, say, once every five times.

In other words, five consecutive wins for any party automatically disqualified them for standing on the sixth occasion. Alternatively there might be a handicap system as on the racecourse.

However, these and other political reforms will have to wait until I have time to attend to them. What we are supposed to be discussing in this column is whether we ought to go on taking politicians seriously, and try to believe they are human beings.

Or whether we should take human beings like Ludovic Kennedy and Jacqueline Mackenzie, and (yes, why not?) even myself, seriously, and try to believe they are politicians. But then does one really want to be a politician? It isn't, after all, a very stimulating life compared with the theatre.

The only times I have ever been to the House of Commons I have come away feeling rather depressed.

Old meat

THE food is wholesome enough but looks as if it has travelled a very long way to meet you.

The same can often be said of your M.P. Most of them appear to have stepped from a sleeper rather than a bandbox.

Conversation at the table is apt to be one-sided, your host doing most of the talking.

He will want to describe to you a number of extraordinarily dull ceremonies performed in the House, and unless you are very careful, expect you to witness some of them for yourself after luncheon.

There have to do with Black Rods, White Rods, chaplains, Mr. Speaker Sir, and the Sergeant-at-Arms.

The greatest danger of all is that your M.P. has asked you to lunch on a day when he plans to address the House himself, and is expecting you to stay and listen to him. He has perhaps even managed to get you a ticket in the distinguished Strangers' Gallery.

You must, of course, refuse, but in doing so attempt the almost impossible task of appearing to regret your decision.

The party I remember most vividly at the House of Commons was one which was given just after the war to inaugurate yet another National Theatre campaign.

Whale meat

WE ate whale-meat and nearly everyone made a speech. After a time our host realised that we were preaching to the converted and insisted on our standing around in the lobby while he introduced us to scores of his fellow members hurrying to catch their trains.

Most of them seemed under the impression that we already had a National Theatre, and were loud in praise of the splendid work we were doing.

Surprisingly few seemed to resent our presence, and I imagine only one or two actually missed their trains on our account.

When it was all over, we were dismissed in a graceful little speech. We had, we were told, had a profound effect upon the legislature...the National Theatre was a certain runner at last.

Alas, we are still waiting for it to start, let alone finish. But the luncheon was not entirely without result as far as my wife and I were concerned. What with the whale-meat and the excitement and the standing around, our daughter arrived a trifle unexpectedly a few hours later.

She has always been perfectly certain that she wants to be an actress. Politics, I fancy, are not for her. I suppose, really, they are not for me either.

TOMORROW'S RACE CHANCES

Victoria Peak Handicap

The Main Event

By "RAPIER"

The Hongkong Jockey Club's Tenth Race Meeting of the current season, to be held tomorrow afternoon, will consist of eight events, the most important of which is the Victoria Peak Handicap for Class 1 ponies.
The first saddling bell will be rung at 1.30 p.m. and the first race will commence promptly at 2 p.m.

Here are my estimates of the chances:

FIRST RACE

Mount Parker Handicap (First Section): One Mile.

The programme tomorrow opens with a race confined to Class 5 ponies to be ridden by approved novice riders who have not won ten races at any time, anywhere. I don't think I shall be far wrong in stating that the ponies to watch in this race are Beloved (Sime Chow), Victoria Peak (Steven Lu), Viewpoint (T. H. Yau), and Courier (M. A. C. Roza). Beloved, judging from its second placing in the Ladies' Purse over the two-mile post on the second day of the Annual Race Meeting with K. Kwok up, should have a good chance of winning, but Victoria Peak is not to be ignored as it came third in this same race, ridden by Alex Lam.

But over this distance it is capable of reversing its last defeat at the hands of the above pony. Viewpoint did not impress in its last outing, but may do better tomorrow. Courier is good over the distance and should not be disregarded.

SECOND RACE

Mount Butler Handicap: Six Furlongs.

Class 2 ponies will form the opposition in this sprint race and, from the entries, it appears that Mercury (K. Kwok) should have a good chance of winning if it succeeds in getting off quickly on the rise of the barrier. Otherwise I look to Alandale (Peter Y. T. Wei) as the likely winner. Koble (A. Ostromont) and City of Victoria (H. K. Hung) have shown improvement in their morning gallops and may do well here.

THIRD RACE

Mount Davis Stakes (First Section): One Mile.

This race is confined to 1958 ponies. Ponies which have won

$1,750 or more in stakes barred. Weight 147 lbs. The likely winner should come from Mak Guild (Robert Tsai), Native Prince (H. K. Hung), and Follow Me (Alex Lam). Mak Guild has been responding very well indeed in training under Mr Tsai and in certain quarters it is strongly fancied to win. Native Prince is looking the picture of fitness and should have something to say at the finish. Follow Me is quite capable of staying in the field.

FOURTH RACE

Mount Davis Stakes (Second Section): One Mile.

The Second Section of 1958 ponies will contest this event. Eunice (Chun Kit) is in sparkling form and is ready to register a win here. Cops (K. Kwok) and Passing Shot (Robert Tsai) are good enough to offer opposition and I think they will be very close.

FIFTH RACE

Victoria Peak Handicap: From 1 1/4-Mile Post.

The draw for position and the ability to get off quickly at the start will prove important factors in this race confined to Class 1 ponies. Looking over the entries, it would appear that Red Light (M. Samarra) is the logical choice for the first position. Permacore has shown improvement during morning gallops and it should be near at the finish. Winsome Stag (H. K. Chuang) is coming along nicely but I cannot see it beating the above mentioned two ponies. For those looking for an outsider, Night People (K. Kwok) is the pony.

SIXTH RACE

Mount Davis Stakes (Third Section): One Mile.

The third batch of 1958 ponies will try conclusions here in this race. Judging on its recent form, Vanity Fair (H. M. Botello) should have a good chance of winning. This pony came fourth in the Hopeful Stakes (Third Section) at the Annual Meeting over this distance, but in view of the opposition it should not be fully extended except, perhaps, by Maybelle (Chun Kit). Genghis Khan (Albert Lam) should be placed and Mona Lisa (W. K. Hsu) may be worth following as an outsider.

SEVENTH RACE

Mount Gough Handicap: 1 1/4 Mile.

Silver Wing (H. K. Chuang) has been knocking at the door of success for a long time and Rula (Robert Tsai) is another pony to bear in mind in this race. Balkan Monarch will be piloted by M. Samarra and, for those who prefer an outsider, this combination is worth following.

EIGHTH RACE

Mount Parker Handicap (Second Section): One Mile.

The final race of the day will be contested by the Second Section of Class 5 ponies. There is not much to choose from among the entries, although it seems that the finish should be fought out between Silverwing and Cove Girl (H. K. Hung), but Fenchurch (Chun Kit) may also be considered. The latter pony should give the other two a good run and possibly win. Good Condition (Horace Chan) on the showing at the last meeting is capable of creating an upset. Gladie (M. Samarra) is good, but I am afraid it is not good enough against the better bets in this field.

Japanese Golfers In New York For Masters Tournament

New York, Mar. 20. Toruichi Nakamura and Koji Ono, who won the Canada Cup for Japan last October, arrived here today, to play in the "Masters" Golf Tournament at Augusta, Georgia, from April 3 to 6.

But before that they have a return match with the two American players they beat in the Canada Cup matches in Tokyo.

Sam Snead and Jimmy Demaret will take on the two Japanese on March 20 at Boca Raton, Florida, and try to avenge their defeat.

Nakamura outplayed Snead by seven shots for the individual prize in Tokyo, and the combination beat the two Americans by nine strokes.

One of Nakamura's first questions on his arrival here was "How is my friend Sam Snead shooting?"

When a reporter told him that Snead had shot a record 51 last week over his home course of Boca Raton, where he is to meet the Japanese, Nakamura smiled and said, "Mr Snead will have to give me strokes."

Both in their match at Boca Raton and in the Masters Tournament at Augusta, the Japanese players will have to use the American ball, which is larger than the British-style ball used in Japan.

But the champions were ready for anything. "If we must use the American ball," Nakamura said, "We should get accustomed to it." —Router.

Winner Of Lopez-Peacock To Meet Halimi?

Paris, Mar. 20. Philippe Filippi, manager of France's world lightweight boxing champion, Alphonse Halimi, said here today there could be no question of the moment of nominating the winner of a forthcoming bout between Alphonse Halimi and an American, Billy Peacock, as challenger for Halimi's world crown.

Filippi said he had received no notification concerning the Peacock-Lopez bout, set for April 1 at Los Angeles, either from any committee or federation or from promoter Parnassus.

Last night, Parnassus said the Lopez-Peacock 12 rounder would count as an elimination bout to decide the challenger for Halimi's world crown, and that the winner would meet the French World Champion in May or June.

The American National Boxing Association ranks Lopez fourth and Peacock fifth in the list of world lightweight challengers. —France Press.

Gene Tunney's Condition Satisfactory

New York, Mar. 20. Gene Tunney, former World Heavyweight Boxing Champion, was reported in satisfactory condition today at the Harkness Pavilion of Presbyterian Hospital.

Dr. George Fish operated on Tunney yesterday to remove a stone from the right kidney.

Tunney, who will be 60 in May, lives in Stamford, Connecticut, and has offices in New York. He is a director of several corporations. —United Press.

Kurt Nielsen Unexpectedly Beaten

Cannes, Mar. 20. Denmark's Kurt Nielsen was today the second favourite unexpectedly ousted from the "Gallie" tennis tournament at Cannes in the opening rounds, after yesterday's first round departure of Swedish ace Sven Davidson.

Today, Britain's Billy Knight, defeated Nielsen in a third round match by 6-1, 7-5. However, British Number One, Mike Davies, was also eliminated today, beaten in another third round encounter by Italy's Maggi, who won 6-4, 6-2.

Another favourite to be eliminated today was France's Jean-Noel Grinda, who lost to Glencos of Spain 6-4, 6-3. —France-Press.

Yankees Sell A Veteran First Baseman

St Petersburg, Mar. 20. The New York Yankees sold Joe Collins, a veteran first baseman, to the Philadelphia Phillies today and Collins promptly announced that he would retire from baseball.

If Collins does retire, the Yankees would have to return the Phils the sale price, believed to be somewhat over the $20,000 waiver price.

Collins learned of the deal while dressing for today's exhibition game between the Yankees and Phillies. He said he would talk it over first with General Manager Roy Hamey of the Phils but then announced definitely that he was quitting. —United Press.

BIGGEST UPSET AT WEMBLEY

Eddy Choong Beaten In Singles Quarter-Finals

London, Mar. 20.

Eddie Choong (Malaya) recognised as the world's leading badminton player, came tumbling from his throne in the All-England Championships at Wembley today. Choong, holder of the Men's Singles and four times winner in the past five years of a title that is emblematic of the world individual championship, was defeated in the quarter-finals 1-15, 15-2, 15-8 by Denmark's Erland Kops in one of the biggest upsets since the war.

ASIAN GAMES TABLE TENNIS

Saigon, Mar. 21. Li Van Tiet, South Vietnam's National Table Tennis Champion, and three other Vietnamese players will enter the table tennis competition at the Asian Games in Tokyo. Playing with Tiet will be Tran Van Duc, Tran Van Lieu and Nguyen Kim Hang, who were selected by local playoff matches. Mai Van Hoa, who won the 1956 Asian title in Manila, was eliminated in the last round of the Vietnamese selection matches. —United Press.

Two Top Heavyweight Contenders Willing To Meet Pete Rademacher

San Francisco, Mar. 20. The two top heavyweight contenders for Champion Floyd Patterson's title are willing to meet ex-amateur Pete Rademacher — provided that enough money is forthcoming.

Sid Flaherty, manager of Number One heavyweight contender Eddie Machen, said yesterday his fighter would be "happy to meet Rademacher in any state" as long as there was a "substantial" guarantee involved.

Bill Swift, manager of Number Two contender Zora Folley, said he would not demand a guarantee but would demand that his fighter "got the bigger percentage."

Machen will meet Folley at the Cow Palace here on April 9.

"I don't believe Rademacher can be classed as a desirable opponent," Swift said. "When a manager demands a big guarantee it means, in most cases, that the opponent is dangerous.

Bigger Percentage

"The only demand I'd make is that we got the bigger percentage. It would be a good fight and interesting for a few rounds."

Flaherty, however, said "Machen feels he would have everything to lose and nothing to gain—other than the purse—if he fought Rademacher."

He added that he and his boxer stand ready to post a $250,000 guarantee for a shot at Patterson's title and would expect Rademacher's supporters to do likewise.

GRAND NATIONAL

London, Mar. 20. Grenade was officially scratched from the Grand National at 10.000 G.M.T. today. —Reuters.

Choong's defeat was the forerunner of a bad day for Malayan players who have dominated the Championships for so long. Two more players, Oon Chong-jin and Oon Chong-taik, were eliminated in the same round to end Malaya's singles challenge.

Oon Chong-jin went down 15-8, 15-0 to Bengt Dahlberg, of Sweden, and Chong-taik was beaten 15-9, 15-0 by Ferry Sonneville of Indonesia.

The semi-finals line-up will be Kops versus Dahlberg and Sonneville versus Finn Kobbero (Denmark). Kobbero beat Bertil Glans of Sweden 17-14, 15-9.

Today's win was sweet revenge for Kops, a 21-year-old Copenhagen office worker, for Choong beat him easily in the final last year.

The start of the match gave no indication of what was to come. Choong raced away with the first 12 points and won the first game inside five minutes. But Kops, who had continually overdriven, found his length and, staking all on attack, blazed his way through the second game and gained a commanding 9-6 lead in the third.

A Final Effort

Choong, noticeably slowing down, made a final effort and pulled back to 8-9, but never gained another point as Kops, now in full cry, smashed his way to a deserved victory.

Choong said afterwards: "I couldn't find my length. Kops is a much improved player over last year and his form surprised me."

Choong was joint "up seed" with Kobbero to win the title. Kops shared second seeding with Glans, Sonneville and Dahlberg were third-seeded. Malayan players continued their challenge in the Men's Doubles with three pairs reaching the quarter-finals.

Eddie and David Choong showed impressive form in beating two home pairs and Oon Chong-jin and Oon Chong-taik confirmed their seeding by reaching the last eight.

H. Heath, who won last year with the American J. C. Alston, formed a good partnership with B. K. Wong to beat the English seeded pair H. T. Finlay and E. J. Timperley in three games in the second round. They meet the seeded Swedes B. Dahlberg and B. Glans in the semi-finals. The Choongs meet Ferry Sonneville (Indonesia) and A. Rasmussen (Denmark) and Chong-taik and Chong-jin play joint top seeds Finn Kobbero and J. Hammargard Hansen (Denmark).

Beaten Before

Kops has once before beaten Choong, but it was in an unimportant exhibition match in Denmark shortly after last year's final.

Kops said after his match with Choong: "Eddie was not playing so well as in last year's final. But then I had a bad leg and had to defend all the time. Today I attacked all the way and it worked."

The Malayan challenge in the Men's Singles ended when the Oon brothers, Chong-jin and Chong-taik, followed Eddie Choong to defeat in the quarter-finals.

Chong-jin lost to B. Dahlberg of Sweden 8-15, 6-15, and Chong-taik was beaten 15-9, 15-0 by Ferry Sonneville of Indonesia.

Jin found that the tall Swede's height prevented him from playing his normal game. "It could not get a length," he said afterwards. "He was tall and I had to lob high, and when I lobbed the shuttle went out of court."

Dahlberg deceived Jin with deceptive drop shots which always found the Malayan out of range.

Jin led at the start of each game after surprising Dahlberg with fierce accurate smashes, but once the lanky Scandinavian got into his stride the result was never in doubt.

Sonneville had his amazing stamina to thank for his win over Oon Chong-taik.

Talk said "Sonneville played faultless badminton but it was his stamina that beat me. Some of the rallies were long and he was able to last the pace better."

Comfortable

The Choong brothers, Eddie and David, had a comfortable passage into the second round of the Men's Doubles. They beat England's R. J. Jackson and C. J. Bacon 15-8, 15-7.

The Choongs, winners of the title three times from 1950 to 1953, outclassed their opponents without exerting themselves. They dominated the English pair and frequently left them leader-footed with accurate deceptive shots.

I. Arasandnam and H. S. Farman had to fight for their wins over C. Denton and J. H. Lawton-Smith (England) 15-8, 17-15.

They took the first game 15-8, but in the second it was a tense struggle before the fast moving Malaysians won 17-15.

H. H. Heath and B. K. Wong were far too strong for L. Ellwood and G. Ripley of England in the first round of the Men's Doubles.

Heath, who won the doubles title last year partnered by J. C. Alston of the United States, was the dominant partner in a fast-moving hard-hitting pair.

The Englishmen gave a spirited display but the Malaysians all-round ability and power at the net gave them no chance.

Malaya completed a successful challenge in the first round of the Men's Doubles when the Oon brothers, Chong-jin and Chong-taik beat C. A. Darnell and H. I. Palmer of England 16-8, 15-4.

The Englishmen were no match for the wooded Oons, who showed their class with a sound display, mixing power with subtlety.

In the Women's Singles, Miss Pattapongse, the unseeded Siamese player who made such a spectacular debut yesterday, continued in a winning vein.

The 21-year-old shy Bangkok student today easily beat Miss Ann Rulledge of America by 11-8, 11-4 to reach the semi-finals.

Now Miss Pattapongse has to meet the player who suggested that she should enter these championships, another American, Miss Margaret Varner, a former titleholder.

Miss Varner played against Miss Pattapongse in Bangkok last year and was so impressed with her form that she suggested the trip to London.

Princess Galyani Vadhana, the sister of the King of Siam, sponsored her compatriot's visit and is acting as her chaperone here.

Perhaps Miss Varner, who also had a comfortable win today—beating Mrs Anne Withers 11-3, 11-4—will come to regret her good advice.

The other women's semi-finals are Miss Judy Devlin (USA), the title holder, and Miss Heather Ward of Britain.

In today's quarter-finals Miss Devlin was in great form against Mrs T. Holst Christensen of Denmark, dropping only four points in each game to beat Miss H. McGregor Stewart (USA) to the tune of 11-2, 11-1.

NEW TRANS PACIFIC DC-7C SERVICE FROM APRIL 1st 1958 JAPAN AIR LINES

SHORTENING THE AIR ROUTES

THE shortest distance between two points is a straight line. But up till now the Western world have had to follow some very round-about lines in order to reach the Far East, because Russia and China have not allowed them to fly over their territories.

Now, however, BEA has come to an arrangement with the Russians to allow regular flights to Moscow.

The other British airline, BOAC is hoping that the Communists will allow commercial flying over other sectors of the vast territory under Communist control in Asia. On flights from Britain to all points east of Calcutta much time could be saved by flying over Russia and China.

Newsmap shows the number of hours spent in actual flying by Britannia aircraft bound from London to Tokyo and Sydney. The existing BOAC route has to dip down south of the Tropic of Cancer to connect London and Tokyo — both in the temperate latitudes of the world!

LOCAL ARTIST OPENS SHOW IN NEW YORK

By DAVID T. K. WONG

AN exhibition of Chinese paintings, marking the first formal appearance of a Hongkong artist in New York, has just been opened at the China Institute.

The artist is David Kwok, whose exhibitions in Hongkong, England and elsewhere have earned for him high critical acclaim.

The present exhibition consists of 30 paintings done in the Hsieh-yi or Calligraphic style, a school of painting marked by bold, free strokes and quick, rhythmic lines.

David, a former student of the great contemporary artist, Chai Shi-shih, displays in his work the unmistakable imprint of his master. At the same time his individual styling is such as to cause the London Art News and Review to say:

QUITE EMPTY

"Kwok can render a lotus bud and flower in one line, and make a comparable Matisse drawing appear quite empty. The Lotus and Kingfisher, for sheer contrast of weight, balance, virtuosity and meaning in such perfect control would make a comparable drawing by Picasso appear coarse and crude."

David was born in Peking and he became interested in painting when he was 12. Encouraged by his family and friends, he spent much time at it. At the age of 15 he went to study under Chai Shi-shih and became one of his most promising students. At the end of three years under Chai, David had decided that he wanted to become an artist.

He then enrolled at the National Institute of Fine Arts in Nanking and at the end of his studies remained for another three years teaching painting at that institute. Another five years of teaching followed at the Kiangsi Provincial Art Institute before he went to Hongkong in 1949.

He worked for a number of years as an illustrator for the United States Information Service in Hongkong and gave exhibitions at St. John's Cathedral Hall. In 1954 he was awarded a scholarship by the United States State Department to study Occidental art at Iowa State University and Columbia University.

EXHIBITIONS

The following year he gave exhibitions at the Art Institute of Chicago, the H. M. de Young Museum at San Francisco, and the Imperial Institute in London. Since then he has given a number of small exhibitions at various colleges and universities in America.

Apart from painting, David is at present teaching Chinese art to private students. He finds an insufficient appreciation of Chinese art here and that the art market in New York is an extremely difficult one to break into. However, he is going to remain here and persevere.

David has already published two volumes of his paintings — one by Hui Chai-shien in Hongkong and the other by the Art Institute of Chicago. He is at present working on a third volume.

He hopes that in two years' time he will be able to return to Hongkong for some exhibitions.

Mr R. H. Hughes has been appointed honorary game warden for a period of three years as from March 18, according to the Government Gazette today.

SOLIDARITY Political Situation In Far East Still Critical

Washington, Mar. 20.
The Assistant Secretary of State, Walter Robertson, warned Congress today that there had been no apparent weakening of the Moscow-Peking solidarity and the political situation in the Far East remained critical.

"Subversive efforts are continuing in all free Asian countries," he said. "A softening process is being applied on the political, economic and social front in anticipation of the day when large, sudden gains may be possible by military, revolutionary or other means."

Mr Robertson, in charge of Far Eastern affairs for the State Department, testified in recent closed hearings of the Foreign Affairs Committee and his testimony was made public today.

The Communists remain strong in North Korea, he told the Committee, and in Vietnam where they have a puppet army in the north of from 350,000 to 400,000 men.

Chinese Army

"On the Chinese mainland the Communists have an army of some 3,000,000 men and hundreds of modern airplanes. They are steadily building up their military capabilities across the strait from Taiwan, where they have prepared jet airfields, railroads, and troop dispositions."

For more than two years, he added, the Chinese authorities have refused to renounce their intentions to take Taiwan by force of arms if need be.

Mr Robertson listed these highlights of the situation in Asia in urging the committee to approve the full request for foreign economic, military and technical aid for the coming year.

He said he felt it would be disastrous for Congress to cut the totals as it did last year. — United Press.

Excellent Shakespeare Performance

By JOHN LUFF

"As You Like It," by William Shakespeare, opened last night at the Lyceum Theatre. Produced by Alec M. Hardie. Sets and costumes by Douglas Hamer. Orchestration by Douglas Hamer. Edmund Blunden; Oliver, Lucas Chan; Dennis, Yeung Tsai Hing; Celinda, Jeanne Rosalind; Anne, Choy Touchstone; George, Fung; Le Beau, Solomon; Charles, Charles; Reuben, Choy; Duke Frederick, Benjamin Shih; Duke Senior, Solomon; Jaques, Peter Ng; Corin, Frank Wong; Silvius, Stephen Lo; Jacques, Harman Grevel; Audrey, Winnie Wong; Sir Oliver Martext, Choy King; Fawn, Phoebe; Nick, William, Lee; Chai Pah, Hymen; Terence, Fung; Jacques de Boys, John Lam; forming the Maquers the University of Hongkong.

Last night's performance of "As You Like It," confirms us in the opinion that Alec Hardie is not only a considerable Shakespearean in the academic sense, but a Shakespearean in the theatre also.

Criticism and analysis is the stuff of the classroom, but such lucid and brilliant interpretation is of the theatre, and the English theatre at that.

The question might be asked, why does Hardie succeed again and again, and the answer is, because he understands not only the text, but the very mood and mind of Shakespeare. But most important, he does not fall into the error, often made by the professional producer, of trying to build his play around one or two strong players, and allowing them to hog the performance. Rather, he aims at, and achieves, a performance that is complete in itself, original, sparkling, even audacious in its venturesomeness.

An example of what I mean. In casting Orlando against Edmund Blunden, Hardie did not try to synthesize the traditions both would naturally adopt, in order to obtain what a less discerning producer would call a "harmonious unity." Instead, he had Blunden, as the English servant, as English as an English meadow, and the young man of the house, Orlando, interpreting his part with the emotion that is his in a language that is not his, he obtained, in effect, which Shakespeare underwrote four centuries ago, that all the world's a stage.

TIMING

The wrestling scene was another incident which marks what I mean. Here we had Judo, but how fine it was, and the timing of "O excellent young man" was superb.

The astonishing Miss Choy goes from strength to achievement, and her rendering of the epilogue had that blend of artful coyness and winsome declaration that must have thrilled even those who haunted the old Vic when a bid was made to restore real Shakespeare. Celinda was a new interpretation to me, less sympathetic and less intense than as I see it, but delightfully fresh to see her demand rather than plead the cause of friendship. Jacques came to us that universal figure of the universal commentator on the follies of men; I should myself like to say that Grevel stole the evening, such language belonging to lesser theatre; he did more than that. He proved that the moods of man create the universal folly of man, and often have. Then Phoebe, who often have I asked a class to see her as the country girl who has adopted the pseudo refinements of town. Yet here was a girl so graceful in gesture such as no Phoebe was, yet with a grace wedded to accent which sent me away wondering at the genius of Shakespeare to hold a mirror up to life.

The set was startlingly original, and I have seen this play performed against every conceivable background, yet the astonishing depth produced especially in the darker scenes was truly effective.

MUSIC

Music was performed by a combination under S.M. Bard who also arranged the compositions. So there you have it, "As You Like It," a performance where the producer proves his point, that genius is not of national trait, and our Shakespeare who never heard of Hongkong, belongs here just the same.

PROFESSIONAL HOUSEBREAKER PLEADS GUILTY

The method of a "professional house-breaker", who ransacked houses of well-to-do people in various districts in the Colony, was described by Mr D. E. Greenfield, Crown Counsel, before Mr Justice A. D. Scholes at the Criminal Sessions this morning.

In Court was a well-dressed 32-year-old man, Chan Man-lung, alias Chan Man-kwan, who pleaded guilty to five counts of housebreaking and larceny and one of larceny in dwelling houses.

Together with Chan was a 25-year-old woman, Wong Mei, alias Wong Yee-mei, who denied the charges of housebreaking but pleaded guilty to five counts of receiving stolen property.

Mr Greenfield revealed that the first accused was convicted in February 8, 1951 of housebreaking and committing a felony for which he was sentenced to eight months and recommended for punishment. In April last year, he was again convicted on a charge of housebreaking with intent and was sentenced to six months, and given an additional two months for breach of a deportation order. The deportation order was rescinded, Crown Counsel said.

Having forced open the door, he would rapidly ransack the flat, taking money, jewellery, watches, fountain pens and light variable and easily transferable articles. When he stepped out, he would hand over the loot to the girl, who would carry out her operation by disposing the loot at pawnshops, jewellery dealers and other shops.

Owners
By adopting this method, the first accused had raided six houses in well-to-do districts and stolen jewellery and money to the total value of about $4,200, between November 25 and December 7, last year.

When arrested, the first accused was quite frank to the Police and assisted them in recovering the stolen articles. Some of the articles were recovered from pawnshops and some from goldsmiths, and others from shops in Macao, Crown Counsel told the Court.

The various articles stolen in this case belonged to Mr G. D. Binstard, Miss Tsai Po-yuk, Miss M. H. Dawson, Miss Fok Kip-ping, Mr W. S. Vaughan, Miss Helen Lo, and Mr Kenneth Lo, Counsel said.

Hearing is continuing.
